

How religious are Americans? What is our religious past?

RLGN 2096-101: Religions in the U.S.

Tuesday 6:00 pm-8:45 pm

Instructor: Kelly J. Baker

Course Description:

Introduces the diversity of religious practice in the United States from European contact with Native Americans to the twenty-first century. This course examines the dominant Protestantism as well as religious diversity in America, including Native American religions, American Catholicism, Mormonism, New Religious Movements, Eastern religions in America, Judaism, Islam, popular devotion, and various religious movements in New Mexico.