Course Name:	Communication Studies 2221 – Interpersonal Communication, section 51
Additional requirements for this course:	You must have high-speed access to the Internet. In addition to attending all three skill demonstration sessions, you must keep in contact with the instructor by completing assignments as per the syllabus, taking quizzes, and replying to discussion postings as scheduled or you will be dropped from the class.
Online Information and time commitment:	Distance Learning students must be self-motivated to achieve their goals on time. I can't stress this enough! Take the student readiness quiz at: http://planet.cnm.edu/distancelearn/measuring_student_readiness.htm to be sure of your abilities to succeed as a distance learning student. Many students think distance learning courses are easier and then find out that the opposite is true. You will probably need to spend as much or more time doing your reading, testing and assignments as you would spend driving to and from campus and sitting in class (average: 4-6 hours a week in summer). I recommend scheduling work-time into your week (like you would do with a class) and making sure that you stick to the schedule. It's easy to get behind and almost impossible to catch up. You will be turning in something fairly substantial and/or taking a quiz every single week (see Course Syllabus To-Do List).
