SECTION D: Scope of Work for P-296

Location:

SCOPE OF WORK: Alameda Business Center

CNM has purchased the Alameda Business Center located at 4700 and 4800 Alameda. The existing facility is located in an industrial property in the North I-25 market area of Albuquerque. The buildings were constructed in phases from 1982 to 1994 and has a gross square footage of approximately 257,016 square feet. The land area is 20.59 acres. CTS Corporation leases 95,147 square feet of the building and the remaining building is vacant. CNM wishes to renovate about 82,000 GFS in the west section of the property in the building known as phase II at 4700 Alameda.

CNM wishes to utilize a portion of the building to house Applied Technology courses that will allow CNM to expand course offering in that area. The proposed courses include Aviation, Truck Driving, Film, Animation, Construction Technologies, landscaping, Electronics and Photonics. A small concise planning team will be established to assist the architect in programming and developing the facility that meets the requirements. The architect will need to work with this planning group to develop schematic and preliminary designs. A preliminary space programming document was developed to determine general space use and cost, but the architect will need to review the space needs and square footage and to develop detail requirements for each space and finalize a program for the facility. This project program will be used to develop the schematic design. It is the intent that the majority of renovation will take place in the vacant space of the building noted as building 2 or phase II and CNM would like to utilize as many existing building systems as possible to lower renovation cost such as mechanical and roofing. CNM will be seeking a LEED for commercial interiors on this project and will be required to meet that standard. The project must be registered and noted as a LEED commercial for interiors version 3. The leased portion of the space must remain operational without any downtown or stoppage to the CTS operations. The existing parking lot and outdoor areas will also need to be updated to accommodate semi trucks from the trucking program as well as area for the landscaping lab.

The project will be done in two phases:

Phase I: The portion of the work will include working with the small group in the refinement of a program for the building and will include conceptual ideas and schematic drawings showing the building in relationship other areas within the building. The architect will provide a written program which will serve to move to the next phase of the project.

Phase II: This portion of the work will include the development of specifications and construction drawings for the Alameda Business Center Building and on site improvements such as parking lot, pedestrian walkways, and patio that will allow for the construction and development of the area.

The facility will need to deal with the following ten issues that have been identified as important to CNM

1. Agility. The focus on student centered spaces. CNM would like to look at generic spaces that can be configured quickly to serve the ever changing needs of CNM
2. Collaborative Planning. Architect will need to work with diverse group of interested parties who might be affected by construction. Groups include neighborhood associations, City of Albuquerque, County of Bernalillo, and CNM students, staff and faculty.
3. Community Use. CNM would like to take advantage of partnerships with local businesses, community groups, public agencies, and other institutions.
4. Cost Effective Design. The new facility must stay within the available budget established by CNM.
5. Security. The facility will need to be designed with security in mind.
6. Campus Facility Plan. The design will need to adhere to the concepts and ideas noted in the Facilities Master Plan and set a recognizable image of CNM to the community.
7. Student Centered. The architect will need to create spaces that can enhance different teaching and learning styles. Spaces will need to be designed for independent learning, group interaction, interdisciplinary team-teaching and hands-on instruction. Student Services spaces will need to be flexible to allow for changes and flexibility.
8. Sustainable design The renovation of the facility will need to compliment the existing use of materials to create a campus image and identity that is sensitive to the landscape and the area.

9. Technology The architect will need to design the facility and spaces to meet the needs of the unprecedented growth in the availability of technology. Issues such as wireless network access, support for mobile computing devices, specialized labs, and access to digitally stored information will need to be evaluated.

10. Universal Design The facility will need to abide by the accessibility guidelines of the American with Disabilities Act to create a facility that incorporates universal design concepts such as Areas of Refuge, Unisex restrooms, etc.

The project will include the following:

1. Renovated parking lot to accommodate the truck driving program. Potential metal building on the site to serve as the Truck driving service area.
2. Formal entry way to the building
3. Review of grading and drainage.
5. Irrigation and fire protection
7. Review and or relocation of utilities and infrastructure to accommodate future growth.
8. Telecommunications and data infrastructure for future growth
9. Camera security surveillance systems, intrusion alarms, and access control.

Central New Mexico Community College
Facilities Master Plan

The CNM Strategic Direction

In 2008, CNM implemented a comprehensive Strategic Direction designed to guide the college to greater success and continued growth over a five-year period.

The Strategic Direction was honed by input received from nearly 300 participants at 15 forums over several months. Participants included CNM faculty, staff and students; program advisory board members; K-through-12 representatives; community and business leaders; and higher education partners.

Through much thought and evaluation, CNM identified five primary goals in the Strategic Direction:

- STUDENT SUCCESS: Expand CNM’s caring approach to student success;
- PARTNERSHIPS/COMMUNITY BUILDING: Create and enhance a systemic approach to partnerships and community building;
- DIVERSITY: Build on CNM’s multi-faceted diversity;
- IDENTITY: Strengthen CNM’s comprehensive identity; and
- COLLEGE SUCCESS AND SUSTAINABILITY: Innovate to sustain CNM’s success for future generations.

These five primary goals in the Strategic Direction will continue to guide CNM through the next four years, with all efforts ultimately targeted at increasing STUDENT SUCCESS.

CNM’s Facilities Master Plan Planning Process

CNM recently initiated a similar process to engage the CNM community in a collective effort to develop the college’s new five-year master plan for facility improvements and capital outlay projects.

Beginning in March 2009, CNM invited faculty, staff and students to attend forums held at each CNM campus. More than 135 attendees participated in discussions about how the college could improve planning for new buildings and improve existing facilities, such as buildings, classrooms, labs and outdoor space, to better serve the CNM community.

CNM Facilities Master Plan Forum Questions

1. How can CNM facilities create a sense of “place”?
   What would allow people to realize, just by looking around, that “This is CNM”?, How can our facilities create a sense of belonging for employees and students?, What would make it a pleasant environment?, What would help attract people to our campus?

2. How can CNM facilities help create a sense of pride?
   When you are on campus as an employee or student, what makes you proud?, What strengths do our facilities already have that we could build upon?
The themes are reinforced by this goal’s objectives to:

1. Develop and implement a comprehensive customer-oriented facilities management plan that ensures a welcoming, safe environment that demonstrates good stewardship,
2. Develop and practice a global philosophy of conservation and preservation for the sustainability of resource management,
3. Develop a technology plan that ensures cohesive planning, implementation and maintenance to support sustainability; and
4. Promote and support a culture of evidence-based decision making to ensure accountability and resource management.

The college is already aggressively increasing its focus on sustainable practices and has made a commitment to design every new building to meet Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design (LEED) certification. The construction of three new buildings is currently in process with all designed to meet LEED Silver certification. Many other sustainable practices are under way, including increased efforts related to recycling and energy conservation.

CNM’s Strategic Direction goal of Partnerships/Community Building, which calls for the college to “Create and enhance a systemic approach to partnerships and community building,” also reinforces the themes above through the objective to “Promote CNM as an active partner in community engagement and a hub for community activities.”

Lastly, the themes also dovetail very well with the Strategic Direction goal of Identity, which calls for the college to “Strengthen CNM’s comprehensive identity.” This goal, as it relates to the themes above, is reinforced by the objectives to:

1. Pursue an aggressive marketing and recruitment plan that conveys the dynamic and distinctive identity of CNM and each of its campuses,
2. Engage students to promote college pride and connection to CNM’s identity, and
3. Determine focused roles and specific programs for each campus in support of CNM’s mission.

The alignment of the four facilities themes above with CNM’s Strategic Direction has led us to incorporate these themes as guide posts for the implementation of our five-year facilities master plan.
